NIH Announces Pioneer Awards and New Innovator Awards

The NIH is accepting proposals for the 2012 NIH Director's Pioneer Awards and New Innovator Awards for innovative approaches to major challenges in biomedical or behavioral research. These programs seek to support exceptionally creative scientists who propose bold and novel research ideas of uncommonly high potential impact. The applications do not require preliminary data (although it may be submitted) and do not require detailed budgets. The NIH expects to make at least seven Pioneer Awards and at least 33 New Innovator Awards in summer 2012, depending on the quality of applications and the availability of funds. The NIH especially encourages women and members of groups that are underrepresented in NIH research to apply.
